Tri-Rivers uses HealthCenter21's interactive multimedia delivery to keep students engaged

Tri-Rivers Career Center uses the HealthCenter21 curriculum as part of a two-year Diversified Health Occupations program, as well as their satellite high school programs in Health Technology and Exercise Science/Sports Health.

HealthCenter21 uses interactive multimedia delivery to provide content for students. "As you know most students don't learn by just listening," says Chris Pemberton, Diversified Health Occupations I instructor at Tri-Rivers. "Learning has to be interactive for knowledge to be achieved. I feel HealthCenter21 has helped reach my teaching goals." Before HealthCenter21, Pemberton found it difficult to keep all of her students entertained and busy. "I had stations set up to practice skills, but occasionally they'd get tired of skills," she says. "Students find HealthCenter21 a refreshing change. I find them sometimes actually fighting over my limited amount of computers to be able to use the HealthCenter21 software."

HealthCenter21's standard-based curriculum allows instructors to cover more topics. "As a teacher I am always faced with the dilemma of How am I going to find enough time to teach everything that is required?" says Pemberton. "HealthCenter21 helps me to cover the needed topics that I never get a chance to teach."

During the first year at Tri-Rivers, students use both the Health Care Foundations curriculum to help learn basic skills and the Multi-Skilled Nursing Assistant curriculum to prepare for their nurse aide program. They also use lab work to supplement the computer curriculum. Second-year students attend Tri-Rivers half day and are employed in a medical setting. They also have the opportunity to take the Nurse Aide Training Competency Program by the Ohio Department of Health.
